Calling for third party

CUFA has compromise on its funding proposal

By JIM CARAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

The executive board of Communities United For Action (CUFA) has offered Romulus officials a compromise proposal on the city's request to review client lists in an effort to obtain funding from the city for the organization's 1974-75 program.

CUFA executive director Donald Wrench has proposed that a third party be called in by mutual agreement of the city and the organization to determine whether it is reaching as many people in Romulus as the agency claims.

In a letter sent to the city Monday, Wrench said: "We (CUFA) hope you will understand the ethical and legal problems we would have in supplying the city with lists of names and addresses of the clients (from Romulus) without their permission," while proposing a third-party review and the voluntary release of names by clients.

Romulus officials had informed CUFA last week that they would consider paying a 4½-month share of the city's allotment to CUFA providing the agency give the city a list of clients to allow the city to determine whether the agency — designed to help low income persons in the community — was reaching all low-income persons in Romulus.

"The main thing with the council has been the amount of people in the city who have been serviced by CUFA," Mayor Terry L. Troutt said. It was Troutt who recommended to the council that a legislative body require a listing of CUFA's Romulus clients before releasing funds for the agency.

Of the letter mailed to him Monday, Troutt said: "It sounds like the council will accept it. I can understand why a third party would be called in to check the list of clients, and truthfully, if the work CUFA performs for some person in the community is of a sensitive nature, I don't want to know who receives help."

Romulus Mayor Pro Tem Beverly McAnally, who chairs all council meetings, said she will recommend the legislative body take favorable action on Wrench's proposal.

"But I can't speak for the full council," she added. "I think the compromise is acceptable for me, but I don't know of my colleagues' feelings on the matter. We'll have a discussion and reach a settlement."

Mrs. McAnally believes the council should pay CUFA "for the services performed in the city," but added that those services will be reviewed.

Romulus officials are willing to pay for only the mid-February to July portion of the fiscal year, rather than the July 1, 1974-June 30, 1975 period as requested by CUFA.

"It's quite simple that the council didn't budget $19,000 requested for the full year's funding," Troutt said. "The council has agreed to scrape together money for the 4½ months the council proposed to pay for, but it will be tough to get money for the full 12-month period."

Mrs. McAnally takes issue on whether the city should pay for a full 12-month period, since CUFA had not staffed Romulus with as many personnel as called for in a full budget.

"The problem is that the office wasn't staffed fully, since the city hadn't paid its share from July, according to CUFA officials," Mrs. McAnally said. "If the full $19,000 is given the agency, that won't make up for the service which wasn't provided."

In his letter to the council, Wrench has given the city until March 7 to make a decision on funding the agency in 1975.

"It's up to them now," he said after releasing the letter. "I think the agency has made an effort to meet effectively the demands of the city. It's up to the city to consider funding the work."

Mrs. McAnally said she expects the council to consider action on the CUFA request at either this week's City Council meeting or the one scheduled for next Tuesday.

Battle may be brewing over HUD home razings

Romulus may be entering into a battle with another governmental body.

The Romulus City Council has called for public hearings on the demolition of 25 buildings in the community, including two homes owned by the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

"I'm glad the action is taken, because the homes are an eyesore in the Meadows subdivision," said Mayor Terry L. Troutt. "I don't know of the consequences, but I do know the buildings are a danger to the health and safety of the residents of Romulus and should be torn down."

The homes, built under HUD-guaranteed mortgage plans, have been abandoned by their owners because they couldn't handle payments for their purchase.

Vandals living near the homes have broken out windows and broken into the homes, leaving them ripe for fire or to cause injury to youngsters who may wander into them, according to the mayor.

HUD has not been able to sell the homes because of restrictions in mortgage foreclosure laws, so the buildings have been boarded up and left vacant.

"The resolution gives HUD 60 days to demolish the structures before the city does it itself," Troutt said. "Other homeowners in the city are required to tear down their homes if declared a danger to the community, so there's little reason why the federal government should be exempt."

"It may be the start of cleaning up the whole HUD mess."

Troutt initiated city action against another governmental agency early in his term when he backed a suit against the Wayne County Road Commission (WCRC) for alleged abuses in purchasing land for the expansion of the Detroit Metropolitan Airport in Romulus.

The publicity he garnered with his fight and a subsequent court suit in Federal District Court provided a wedge to the city to obtain some concessions on airport expansion practices from the WCRC.

Romulus officials have been talking with the federal government for several years in an effort to clean up abandoned homes in the Meadows Subdivision, but have met little success.

Troutt said he is hoping the demolition hearings will change that and spark the government into action.

Belleville's equestrian cobbler teaches students an old skill

By JIM CARAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

To some hopeful men in the Belleville-Romulus area, the pounding of horses' hoofs is like the tinkle of gold.

More than 30 students now are studying the art of horseshoeing at Red Tomlinson's Michigan School of Horseshoeing on Savage Road in Romulus, and believe they're heading for a well-paying career providing steady work.

Tomlinson, 32, who has been shodding horses since he was 19, said the students at the school are a cross-section of society, ranging from men, who like to be around animals and want to make good money for hard work, to the unemployed who are seeking more secure jobs than they held previously.

"While some may laugh, there is an opportunity for a person who wants to work hard and enjoys animals," Tomlinson added. "Good shodders can make $20 per animal for shodding horses, and one who hustles can do a horse an hour."

"It makes for some good wages for a little hard work."

Although the holder of a bachelor of science degree in education from Eastern Michigan University, Tomlinson is a horseshoer who earned his degree in shodding from the California Polytechnical Institute.

In the three years he has been teaching horseshoeing he has established the Michigan school—one of only 15 in the nation—and established the only such school in Canada, just outside of Toronto.

His week is spent between teaching at the Michigan school at 757 Savage Rd., flying to Toronto for one day of instruction each week, and keeping in practice by shodding horses in the Belleville—Romulus area.

"We're not allowed by state law to guarantee jobs to the students," Tomlinson said. "But the facts are there are 250,000 horses in Michigan, more than in Kentucky, and there are only 150 shodders."

"With horses needing shoes every six or eight weeks, that makes for jobs."

Students at the school have paid anywhere from $850 to $1,050 to take part in the 10-week course, which includes training in the anatomy of horses, work on the forges in constructing shoes, classroom instruction on shodding, veterinary science and practical work on live horses.

Students have come from as far away as Colorado for the January class, and Tomlinson is making arrangements to train another student from San Francisco in the April course.

Tom Chilcutt, 33, of Dearborn Heights said he took the course after being out of work for the past 14 weeks as a heavy equipment operator.

"I got tired of sitting around and waiting for work," Chilcutt added. "I talked to my wife about learning to become a blacksmith, and she was all for it."

"When you consider that I'd only work 6½ or 7-months a year in construction, this is a golden opportunity, particularly if I hustle."

Tomlinson has hope for the students' careers.

"We wouldn't graduate them, if they weren't good," he said. "There's plenty of opportunity, whether a smith wants to locate in one area and build a regular clientele, or whether he wants to travel from area to area, following the race horses or touring the farms."

"It's a lot better than being out of work, for most, and it pays good."

At new outlet

Restaurateurs' hope: success

The three co-owners of Van Buren Township's new Bonanza Restaurant hope to continue the success they have enjoyed in other outlets in Livonia and Southfield.

Bob Seghi, one of the co-owners, said that the new restaurant's opening should bring the same kind of service to Van Buren which has been enjoyed by happy customers in Livonia and Southfield for the past seven years. "We've got the experience necessary to provide good food service to our customers," Seghi said. "In addition, there's plenty of room to feed any number of people."

The new Bonanza, located in the Lakewood Shopping Center, has seating for 208—enough space for any form of banquet or lunch and dinner group in the area. "Since we've opened Feb. 15, business has picked up," Seghi said. "I think the word's getting around." As part of an opening week special, the Bonanza is offering two special meals which are not normally on the luncheon ticket. One meal is a $1.29 New York boneless strip steak meal and the other is a $1.89 1/2-pound strip steak meal. Seghi's brother, Ray, and Duane Haskins are co-owners of the Van Buren Bonanza outlet. "The three of us want to serve the people of this area as much as possible," Seghi said. "We provide quick service, for the person who has to grab a quick lunch, but at the same time, we offer the best quality food available. "I'm hoping people stop by and try us."

Deans honor four

Four Western Wayne County students have distinguished themselves at several learning institutions throughout the country by being named to the dean's lists at the various schools for academic achievement during the fall semester.

Claire M. Steinman, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Steinman of 14130 Haggerty in Belleville, and Norman L. Sims, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Sims of 10381 Ozga in Romulus, were named to the dean's list at Albion College in Albion.

Cadet Mark H. Bryant, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hayden L. Bryant of 4985 Denton Road in Belleville, has been named to the first semester dean's list at the Virginia Military Institute in Lexington, Va.

And Susan Burcroff, the daughter of Dean Burcroff of 35000 Grant in Romulus, has been named to the dean's list of Marion College in Marion, Ind.

MICHIGAN AVENUE AT INKSTER ROAD LO 5-8211

From county or state

City may get funds for lights

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

Romulus may be receiving a $10,000 check from either the Wayne County Road Commission (WCRC) or the Michigan Department of Highways for funds the city spent on lighting Merriman Road, leading into Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

The check will help repay the city for the lighting bills on 30 streetlights sent to Romulus since 1960, even though the community didn't order the lights.

"It's a case of where lights were put in without Romulus requesting them at the insistence of the state and then Romulus being billed for their use," said Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt. "The city assessor discovered the problem and worked on it until Romulus finally got the WCRC and the Michigan Department of Highways to split the cost for the lights.

"But it didn't happen until the city ordered the lights turned off for some time."

According to Troutt, the lights were installed to light the way of automobiles driving under the I-94 Freeway on their way into the airport.

When the city learned that they were being financed with city funds and disagreed that Romulus should pay for the lights, it ordered them turned off.

"Anyone who drove through there during the past three months, they drove in the dark," Troutt said. "I just went through there this past week and saw them on. I asked if we had requested they be turned back on.

"Instead, Edison said the state and county were paying for them now."

However, Troutt believes either the state or the county should reimburse the city for funds spent on the lighting since 1960.

"We've won one battle, but have another," he added. "All I know is that someone owes the city for lighting which the city never ordered."

"Someone's going to pay, and I don't care who, so long as Romulus is reimbursed."

Getting the jump on spring

Romulus farmer Irvin Icenogle is getting a head start on the growing season by testing soil conditions on his farm. Lois Randall, office supervisor at the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service in Wayne, tests the soil for acidity. The soil tests will tell Icenogle the crops which will grow best on his land and will give him information on how much chemical additives must be added to the ground to bring up healthy crops. The Romulus farmer indicated he will be selling his produce at Romulus' Community Market slated for Saturdays in the Romulus Civic Center parking lot in the spring and summer. — Enterprise-Roman photo.

Commission expected to act

The Romulus Planning Commission is expected to take action within the next month on a proposal to rezone industrial land bounded by Middlebelt, Ecorse and Merriman roads and I-94.

The Planning Commission held a public hearing on the proposal to rezone land designated for industrial use to residential use and more than 150 residents turned out to voice approval of the proposal.

According to Romulus City Planner John Chihan, the rezoning proposal is designed to help single family homeowners in the area who have been prohibited from making major improvements to their homes because they lie in a non-conforming use area.

"The Planning Commission took a straw vote on the matter at the public hearing Monday night, and a majority of those attending it favored it," Chihan said. "But no recommendation was made since it's been commission policy to delay decisions on zoning matters until after the public hearing."

The commission will meet March 17 at Romulus City Hall.

Chihan added that it is possible the commission will make a recommendation on the rezoning at that meeting. The recommendation will be forwarded on to the Romulus City Council for final action.

Chihan said he expects the rezoning consideration to be applied to only single-family lots, while leaving large acreage tracts for industrial use.

"As a practical matter, the land north of Smith Road probably will remain industrial," he said.

The action was considered by the Planning Commission following numerous appeals from homeowners in the industrial area.

The area was rezoned to industrial use when Romulus adopted its master zoning plan shortly after being incorporated as a city.

Troutt lines up '76 candidates

The mayor of Romulus said he will take action on the Romulus Jaycees' request to establish a city Bicentennial Commission. Mayor Terry L. Troutt last week said he is lining up candidates to serve on the commission, which is to devise a means for city residents to celebrate the United States' 200th anniversary of independence in 1976.

"The city administration has been discussing the Bicentennial celebration for about a month," Troutt said. "But I haven't gotten around to naming the committee."

"I talked to Romulus Councilman Jack Trumble about chairing it and he was agreeable, but I'm seeking other persons to serve."

Troutt indicated he may appoint Jaycee President Phil McNett to the civic celebration committee. McNett stated in last week's Romulus Roman that he was concerned because the city hadn't acted on the Bicentennial celebration.

Voters approve millage

By RIC BOHY
Of The Roman Staff

Two propositions aimed at improving and maintaining school facilities in the Huron School District were passed by township voters in a special election Monday.

The first proposition, which sought voter approval of a $4.9 million bonding issue for construction and improvement projects in the district, was passed by voters, 579-484.

The second proposition, a request for renewal of three mills of operating expenses for a 20-year period, received voter approval, 606-442.

"My feeling is that the results of the election are a real tribute to the voters of this community," said district administrative assistant Phillip Dalley. "In the face of layoffs, even though this involved a decrease, it is very difficult to get voters to the polls to express themselves positively toward taxes."

"I would say within 2½ years, Huron will have as nice school facilities as any district around, as well as the money to maintain them," he added.

The Huron school tax rate in the district now will decrease, going from 28.29 mills to 28.0, according to Dalley.

He attributed the decrease to the state Bursley Bill, which for the first time allows for state assistance to school districts in terms of indebtedness as well as operating costs. This covers construction of new facilities and improvements to existing plant facilities, he added.

Gripes evening lauded

The president of Romulus City Council rated the community's first try at a new "complaint night" format a definite success.

"There was a good dialog between the council and the people and I think the people were impressed with it," Beverly McAnally said. "They told us their concerns about various matters and I think we accomplished some good things."

The meeting with the council and citizens at Cory School recently marked the beginning of a new format for the monthly sessions, when the public is invited to air its gripes at the council.

As we see it

Congress must learn cooperation

The suspension of arms aid to Turkey by the United States under a mandate of Congress serves to bring into focus the growing tendency of the legislative branch to flex its muscles in foreign policy.

It is fundamental issue with its roots deep in the Constitution.

An assertive Congress decided last year that military aid to Turkey would be halted unless President Ford was able to certify that "substantial progress" had been made toward withdrawal of Turkish invasion troops from Cyprus and toward resettlement of Greek Cypriot refugees.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger could not furnish that assurance before the deadline and the assistance was terminated.

In the total mosaic forming the foreign policy of the United States, the action regarding Cyprus is symptomatic of the increasing demand by Congress to share more fully in decisions affecting relations with other nations.

The most notable recent example was the Jackson-Vanik amendments requiring the Soviet Union to ease emigration standards as a condition to getting more favorable trade conditions.

Russia reacted strongly. It said the amendments constituted interference in its internal affairs and invalidated a negotiated 1972 trade agreement.

Even earlier, Congress had acted to control the Nixon administration's conduct of the Vietnam war by voting to cut off funds for combat activities in Southeast Asia effective Aug. 15, 1973. Congress voted in 1974 to bar military aid to Chile and to reduce assistance to South Korea in expressions of dissatisfaction with the governments of those nations.

However, Kissinger is seeking to establish a "new partnership" with Congress.

It is an effort that Congress should meet halfway, since foreign policy is not a contest between the executive and legislative branches but a matter of joint national interest. Obviously Congress cannot expect to deal with the finite details of negotiations.

Other countries must deal with a government, not with 535 persons of varying convictions. Nor should foreign governments have to lobby Congress or have each detail of a negotiation run the gauntlet of U.S. political controversy.

In short, the execution of U. S. foreign policy should be left to the executive branch to give it focus and credibility. The role of Congress is to establish the direction that foreign policy should take — to give "advice and consent" — and to hold the President accountable for maintaining the direction.

WASTE STUDY

Senators urge efficiency probe

By BOBBERG
Lansing Bureau Chief

At first the proposal prompted a weary reaction of "Oh, no. Not another one."

Four state senators introduced a resolution to study waste in government. They want a special committee to study waste, duplication, efficiency and unneeded programs within state government.

Now that certainly is a worthy goal, one supported by everyone who pays taxes. The problem isn't with the stated goal. The problem is that there have been so many people over the years who talked a good saving game but then played a good spending one.

One of the most recent examples was the old Senate Efficiency Committee formed a couple of years ago with the express purpose of cracking down on waste. What followed was a report rehashing some old reports and not mentioning the sometimes incredible waste found in the Legislature itself.

So it is that residents of the Capitol with a memory get pretty suspicious anytime someone starts talking about the need for cutting down waste. And the suspicion is aided this time by the fact some senators are blowing a few bucks on remodeling offices which were just remodeled a couple of years ago.

But a closer look at the sponsors shows they aren't members of the "good old boys politics as usual" club around here. All four are young guys in their 20s and 30s and none of them are having their offices remodeled. That's a good start in itself.

The four, all Democrats, are John Hertel of Detroit, Kerry Kammer of Pontiac, Patrick McCollough of Dearborn and David Plawewski of Dearborn Heights.

What they want to do is bring in some outside people who aren't committed to any existing programs or departments. These people would know how to go through ledger sheets and would examine practices that might be wasteful.

And Lord knows, for all the talk we've had in recent years about tight budgets and bare bones spending, there's still plenty of waste in the $3 billion the state spends. Some of it is pretty small by itself, but added together it may become significant.

For instance, in the Capitol there's the compulsion on the Senate side especially to keep remodeling offices to make them fancier. And there is the practice in the summer of tearing up and resodding pieces of lawn. The same stretch of lawn can be resodded several times in a year.

There was the discovery just a couple of months ago that officials of the National Guard were double dipping on their salaries in violation of a long standing attorney general's opinion. The opinion was issued years ago, but the double dipping continued and no one in the governor's office or Legislature caught it.

There was the practice out at Michigan State University (MSU) for years of replacing refrigerators in married housing units every two years. That practice was stopped this year when MSU's budget got tightened, but it was the school, not the Legislature that stopped it.

All these are tiny matters when compared to the total state budget, of course, but they add up. The point is that there is waste, or "fat", in the budget if someone really wants to look for it rather than just doing some grandstanding.

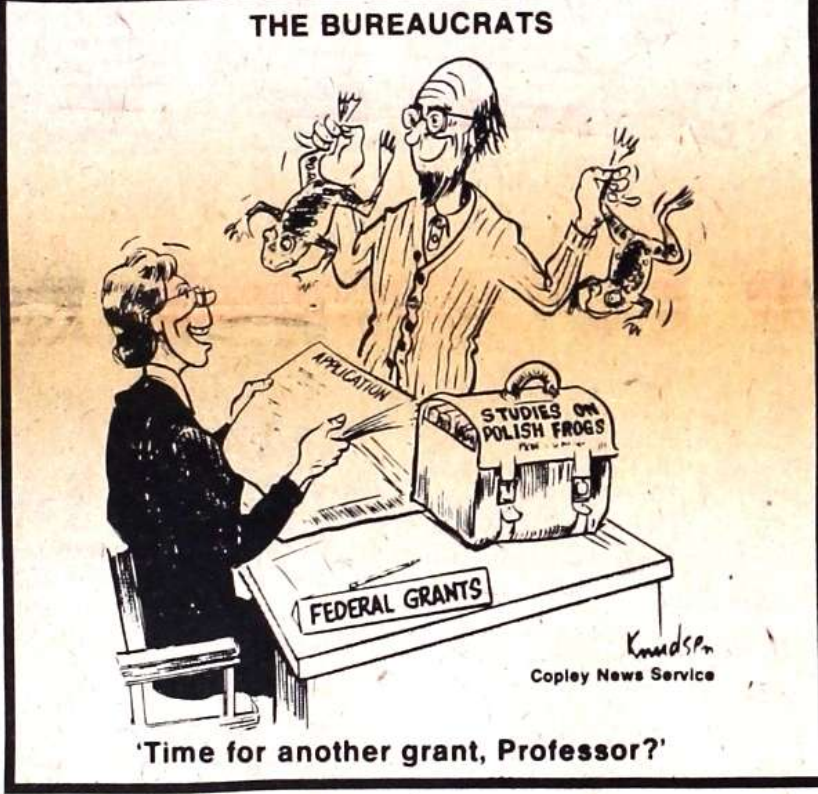

The four sponsors say they are disturbed by the way everyone in Lansing is accepting the idea that a tax hike is needed this year, right in the middle of a severe recession. When times are as tough as they are, it's time for government to stop business as usual and cut back; just like citizens of the state are doing, they said.

"If the citizens of this state had to make a choice between cutting governmental services or paying an increase in their income taxes, the great majority would choose to go without some governmental services," Hertel said.

The proof of their intentions will come, of course, if the Senate does form the committee. If it goes into operation and then issues a meaningless report, we'll know its politics as usual.

But the young turks have been giving proof that they don't want to practice politics as usual. It would seem the least that could be done is give them a chance to save money.

The waste certainly is there to be ferreted out.

Because of Reagan

Third party movement fails

By TOM OCHILTREE
Washington Bureau Chief

A movement among disillusioned Republicans to form a third party has failed, for the time being at least, because former California Gov. Ronald Reagan would not go along with the idea.

If Reagan had raised his banner and called in ringing tones on all true blue Conservatives to rally around him, he could have produced a reaction capable of vastly transforming the American political scene.

Such a step, if it went sour, also could have killed the Republican Party as a major factor in national politics, for years to come or forever—a possibility Reagan obviously took into account.

Reagan's emergence as the shining knight of the right wing of the Republican Party highlighted a recent 4-day political action conference in Washington attended by 500 grass roots delegates fed up with the policies of President Gerald R. Ford's administration.

From the attitude of these delegates it became apparent that the more conservative elements in the GOP will use every political lever at their command to pit Reagan against Ford for the presidential nomination at the 1976 Republican National Convention. Only a remarkable shift of opinion in the next 1 1/2 years could keep that prediction from coming true.

At the conclusion of the conference the delegates adopted an obscure resolution which expressed increasing doubt about the present 2-party system and set up a leadership committee to define conservative options for the future.

Party sources described the resolution as a "face saver" for the third-party advocates who had hoped the Washington meeting would kick off their project.

While the Conservatives were expressing their disaffection with his performance, President Ford, for his part, was trying to keep them from straying from the Republican fold.

He said the formation of a third political party on the right "probably would defeat the real objectives of a Conservative movement" and added: "I don't believe in the proliferation of political parties. I think a 2-party system historically has been in the best interest of the country."

Ford conceded that he would need responsible Conservative backing to win a full term as President in 1976. He also made it clear he was not prepared to scuttle the chances of Vice-President Nelson A. Rockefeller to continue in that office in order to appease the right wingers.

In fact, Ford has widened Rockefeller's responsibilities recently, give the vice-president oversight responsibilities concerning domestic policies in the way that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger monitors the broad sweep of related foreign diplomatic and economic policies.

Since Rockefeller joined the administration there have been whispers that the former New York governor would fight to secure the Republican presidential nomination for himself if something prevented him from running.

Rockefeller at the head of the Republican ticket really would put the fat in the fire. The Conservatives are as bitterly opposed to him now as they have been any time in the last decade.

"If Rockefeller won the presidential nomination, the movement for a third party would take on real steam," one party source said. "He is just not our baby."

The right wingers have many complaints about Ford but the major one relates to the President's selection of Rockefeller last August as vice-president.

At first glance that action seemed to have killed any hopes Reagan had for the 1976 convention. Obviously, that assessment is too superficial in the light of the Conservatives' desire to have Reagan lead them.

Other Conservative objections to Soviet Union at Vladivostok.

According to Reagan that agreement, unless it is renegotiated, "guarantees the Soviets a clear missile superiority sufficient to make a first strike possible with little fear of reprisal."

Since Teddy Roosevelt's bull moose days, the Republican Party has had a deep seated fear of splits developing in its ranks. Reagan shares in that tradition of keeping the party together at all costs, which is one reason why he backed away from the third party idea, at least for now.

To The Editor: I think Romulus should become involved in the American Bicentennial. We are part of America aren't we?

I was wondering why Romulus doesn't have any plans?

I really wanted to get involved in the Bicentennial, but it's pretty hard when your own city isn't even involved.

Dues limit nears

Members of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce have until noon, March 3, to pay their membership fees for 1975 to be eligible for the March board of directors election.

Chamber Executive Secretary Theodore Kuckelman said membership dues will be taken until noon to allow businessmen who have participated in the chamber in the past a chance to vote in the election.

Five persons will be selected for 3-year terms on the 15-member board.

The annual Belleville Chamber of Commerce general membership meeting has been scheduled for 6:30 p.m. April 26.

Church greets Billy

A week of meetings with Billy Walker of the Billy Walker Evangelistic Association is planned at Calvary Baptist Church in Romulus from March 16 through 23.

The church, whose pastor is The Rev. Lonnie England, is at 11338 Ozga Road.

Walker has addressed thousands of area youngsters in the past, and recently wrote the book, "Billy Walker Talks to Teens."

As a Baptist ordained for evangelistic work, he says: "I do not give an invitation for anything except to receive Christ."

Meetings will begin at 7 p.m. each day, and everyone is welcome to attend.

Taxman to hear gripes

Sumpter Township residents will have an opportunity to voice any objections they may have regarding the payment of their 1975 property tax assessment on March 4 and 10.

The Sumpter Township Board of Review has scheduled these as hearing days on the review of the township's 1975 assessment rolls.

The Board of Review sessions will be from 8 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 5 p.m. on both days.

The sessions will be held in the Township Hall at 23483 Sumpter Road.

Officers inspect cadets

It will be all eyes front in perfect stance today when members of the Wayne-Romulus Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol (CAP) gather for their full dress uniform inspection at South Romulus Junior High School.

The group, which meets from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Wednesdays, will wear its dress Air Force blue uniforms for the inspection and will be surveyed on the rules and regulations, stance, execution of commands and drilling.

The squadron's records also will be inspected during the program.

The CAP group is open to teen-agers aged 13 through 18 for cadet positions with senior member posts open to those more than 18 years of age, said Senior Member Arthur Reichert.

Those residents interested in joining the squadron can contact Reichert at 326-7614, 7614.

NEW "KING AND QUEEN" — Residents at the Van Buren Convalescent Center in Van Buren Township have selected the center's King and Queen for 1975. They are Margaret Major and Joseph Norris. The annual King and Queen contest was held this year on Valentine's Day. Entertainment in honor of the new "royal couple" was provided by Belleville's North Junior High School singers.

Pastor denies closing rumor

Rumors reportedly being circulated in the City of Romulus that St. Aloysius Catholic School is closing or about to close its doors have been denied by school officials and by the pastor of St. Aloysius Catholic Church.

The source or originator of the reported rumors is unknown but a spokesman for the school said several inquiries have been received at the school office about the report. One parent even had a student transferred to another school.

"The rumor that has been circulating that St. Aloysius will close this year, it just isn't so," said Fr. Joseph F. Kernosek, pastor of St. Aloysius. "We are in a very stable condition and the only vulnerable spot we have at the moment is the very thing these rumors will affect," he added.

Fr. Kernosek also said that "our enrollment must be within a certain number to stay open, and if the rumors that our school is closing cause our enrollment to drop, that in itself could close our school. We definitely are going to be open next year."

St. Aloysius presently has a student enrollment of 256. Its educational programs and services are under the direction of five sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth who are assisted by four fully certified lay teachers. Sr. Ann Marie Lijek is principal.

The school began operations in the Romulus area in a small schoolhouse on Sept. 6, 1953. A new school was built at 37200 Neville St., Romulus, in 1956.

The school "peacefully" is integrated and attended by all faiths, both Catholic and non-Catholic alike. Children living in the Romulus area ride the Romulus Community School buses. Children from other areas come to the schools by car pools, according to school officials.

Anyone wishing more information may call the school office at 941-3340. Enrollment for the 1975-76 school year begins in March.

Students winding up for music competition

Students at Romulus South Junior High School are seeing to it that their best attire is in shape for the Music Festival planned at Saline Middle School on March 8, which will follow special concerts held this week and next at several schools in the district.

Students will leave South Junior High at 6:30 a.m. March 8, destined for the Concert Band competition at Saline Middle School. Performances will begin at 8 a.m. in the school gym.

Members of the Symphonic Band are to arrive at South Junior High in preparation for a 1:15 p.m. departure time for Saline Middle School and the Symphonic Band competition there on March 8. They are expected to return to Romulus by 5:15 p.m.

Judges from the Michigan School Band and Orchestra

Association will officiate at the competition, where South students will meet competitors from Ann Arbor, Grosse Pointe, Plymouth and other communities.

On Friday, the Symphonic Band will perform in concert at Mt. Pleasant, and Merriman Elementary schools, and will appear with the Concert Band in an assembly for the junior high students on Tuesday.

Tax bills are due in VB

Starting Saturday Van Buren Township taxes on real property can be paid only to Wayne County Treasurer Louis Funk, according to Township Treasurer Dorothy J. York.

The payment, along with the four percent collection fee plus one-half of one percent per month interest computed from March 1 this year should be sent to Funk at 208 City-County Building, Detroit 48226.

Also starting Saturday, personal property taxes can be paid only to the Van Buren Township Treasurer's Office, 46425 Tyler Road in Belleville together with the four percent collection fee plus one-half of one percent per month interest computed from March 1, 1975.

The taxes and collection fee are due Dec. 1 through Feb. 28.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

Member By Invitation  National Selected Morticians

HAROLD REDISKE, HAROLD REDISKE, JR. — DIRECTORS

When a person is absorbed or obsessed with an idea, something often happens...Much of our progress, comforts, conveniences and possessions are traceable to some one's initial idea...Fulton's steamboat; Franklin's idea of electricity from the sky; our forefather's idea of separation from England to form a democracy are just a few examples. Yet, these and many other ideas were initially scorned by unimaginative people.

Oppositionists to ideas are always around, and often heard. This is hard to understand. Least understandable of all, are the scoffers who jibe and discourage others who toy with the idea of serving their fellow men. The scoffers can not understand how or why others may want to seek a job or career in service to others, that offers little financial reward...Teachers, nurses, nuns, priests, ministers, and missionaries are only a few who could be mentioned. The world needs more of these people who are confronted with the presence of God in their being. Encourage them. Don't discourage them...

La Leche League to mark 1st anniversary

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

The La Leche League — you've heard about and seen it mentioned in print but what do you actually know about it? With the La Leche League (and that's pronounced "lah lay chay"), mothering is their main objective.

Since the United States is the first country where the bottle-fed baby is the rule, rather than the exception, the group has set out to educate the third and fourth bottled generation in the U.S. on the advantages of breastfeeding.

The fact remains, though, that less than one-third of the mothers in this country breastfeed their children. Many of those who do nurse have been associated with La Leche League International, Inc. The organization, appropriately named because "la leche" is Spanish for "the milk," is dedicated to helping mothers enjoy giving happiness and security to their babies through breastfeeding.

AT THE LOCAL level, La Leche got a foot in the area door through the efforts of three Belleville women, Marcia Linville, Peggy Bodenmiller and Maryanna King.

The tri-leaders are urging expectant mothers, those who plan to have babies and those currently nursing babies to attend the monthly sessions which deal with four main points: (1) the advantages of breastfeeding to mother and baby (2) art of breastfeeding and overcoming difficulties (3) baby arrives: the family and the breastfed baby (4) nutrition and weaning.

The four-point series is run continually. And since the local unit will be marking its first anniversary March 18, mothers AND their babies are cordially invited to the next meeting on

'The greatest thing about LaLeche is that it expects you to put your family needs first.'

March 17 at the home of Marilyn Whales, 8701-259 Belleville Rd., Belleville. Dress is casual and you need not be a member to attend.

LA LECHE operates in several ways including the four monthly discussion meetings already mentioned. La Leche maintains a 24-hour-a-day counseling service to aid nursing mothers. Says Marcia Linville and Peggy Bodenmiller whose numbers mothers are free to dial at any time, "It's not as hectic as it sounds since most calls come during the day."

The league maintains a free lending library and distributes current literature on breastfeeding. The club's manual, "The Womanly Art of Breastfeeding" is available in soft cover for $3 and in hard cover for $4.

The greatest thing about La Leche, members say, is that it expects you to put your family needs first and mothers are encouraged to bring their children to the meetings with them. Many have even carried them to the national conventions which have been held in Chicago and Indianapolis. Though it sounds as if the result would be utter pandemonium, the only noise that is heard during the meetings is the cooing and coddling of happy babies.

The physical and emotional benefits of breastfeeding to both mother and baby are of immediate and lasting consequence, La Leche members feel.

AMONG THE advantages which they claim for the child are:

- (1) The baby is never allergic to mother's milk.
- (2) The baby is never constipated from mother's milk.
- (3) The baby seems better able to resist infection after being on mother's milk.
- (4) The best modern formulas are only second-best imitations of mother's milk.
- (5) The baby's dental structure is stronger when he has been breastfed because it is necessary for him to suck harder on a mother's nipple than on a bottle nipple.
- (6) The texture of a baby's skin is softer from mother's milk.

OTHER ADVANTAGES which La Leche cites contribute to the mother's happiness:

- (1) Mother's figure returns to normal faster. Contrary to what many mothers fear, as long as a mother takes care of herself with proper undergarments, there is no need for concern about losing her figure.
- (2) The money and time saved on preparing formula mounts up.
- (3) The convenience of breastfeeding in the middle of the night and on trips (no bottles to warm) is significant.
- (4) Mothers who breastfeed have less incidence of cancer.

THE LEAGUE maintains the services of a board of medical advisors, 40 in all, who approve all literature and serve as medical consultants.

Although 20 to 30 percent of mothers who nurse their children are successful on their own and never need the services or encouragement which La Leche can provide, better than half need assistance. For the many mothers who are groping for information on the womanly art of breastfeeding, La Leche exists. And until the time when information is readily available to all who seek it, La Leche will continue to boost the interest in nature's most perfect natural food.

For further information in the local club, call Mrs. Linville at 699-9405 or Mrs. Bodenmiller at 697-9546.

Reel-Roeser wed at country club

Romulus realtor H.L. Mickey Reel and his bride, the former Beverly J. Roeser of Belleville, are spending a two month honeymoon in Florida. After May 1 they will be at home at 14243 Lenmoore, Belleville.

William Gill of Pittsburgh was best man at his sister's wedding.

Past Matrons have lunch

The February meeting of the Past Matrons' Association of Belleville Chapter No. 73, Order Eastern Star, was held at the Liberty Street home of Past Matron Katherine Spring on Feb. 6.

Present for the 12:30 luncheon were 17 members, the table decorations being the Valentine motif.

The president, Rose Ann Well, conducted a short business meeting with the guest chaplain, Ada Sager, having the devotions.

Miss Roeser, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gill of Carleton, became Mrs. Reel in a 7 p.m. ceremony Feb. 14 at the Washtenaw County Club. The Rev. Lonnie England of Calvary Baptist Church in Romulus presided at the candlelight service before some 22 assembled guests.

For the occasion the bride donned a princess line gown of red velvet accessorized in silver. Given in marriage by her father, she was attended by her sister-in-law, Sara Gill of Pittsburgh, Pa. who wore pink velvet.

Ford Wives Club sets fashion show

The Ford Wives Club met Feb. 25 for its regular monthly meeting at Ford World Headquarters in Dearborn. "The Ages of Woman," a contemporary drama, was presented by two talented actresses, Joyce Feuring and Evelyn Orbach. It was a detailed personal view of every woman as she searches for herself in a changing society.

Nancy Kennedy, the Ford Times Food Editor, who was originally scheduled for the meeting, will be presented at another time.

Newcomers are invited to attend one meeting before becoming a member. For those interested in membership, call Mildred Vranesh at 271-8354, or June Hildebrandt at 846-3385.

An interesting fashion show is planned for March 11 when the Hughes and Hatcher people will present fashions for both men and women. Tickets may be purchased from Agnes Dourjalian, 9620 Centralia, Detroit, 48239, for $3 each.

Future events include special programs, speakers and trips for Ford Wives members.

THE INSTIGATORS—It took the initiative of three Belleville women to bring the La Leche League to this area. Instrumental in the project were (from left) Marcia Linville, Peggy Bodenmiller and Maryanna King. Seated on their mothers' laps are healthy examples of the LaLeche method three-year old Tammy Linville, seven-months old Adam Bodenmiller, and 18-months old Sammy King.

Around town

Family turns out to greet returning son and family

By Lee Smith
Suburban Living Editor

A happy family reunion took place Feb. 9 at Metro Airport when CTT-2 Robert B. Gregory, his wife, Nora, and their three daughters, Heather, Monica and Brenda arrived from Brindisi, Italy where Robert had been stationed with the U. S. Navy for the past four years.

On hand to greet the quintet were Nora's mother, Mrs. James Wolfeale, who'd driven from Coldwater with her daughter, Julie, and sons, James and David, for the occasion. Also on the welcome home committee were Robert's parents, the Park E. Gregorys of Belleville, and his sister and brother-in-law, Joyce and Scott Silvenis of E. Lansing.

Returning to the Park Gregory's Brain Avenue home, the group celebrated, belatedly, Robert's recent birthday.

Callers the following day were Robert's sister, Mrs. Richard D. Gardner and daughter, Jessica. On the 12th the younger Gregorys left for E. Lansing to spend some time with the Scott Silvenis' while Robert made arrangements for their new home there since he will be attending Michigan State University after his discharge from the Navy in March. They also spent some time with in Coldwater with Nora's family.

SHOWER IS SURPRISE

Under the pretext of "going out for a visit," Angie Hicks of Herman Street, Romulus, was lured to the home of her cousin, Geraldine Torres Feb. 12 where some 20 guests had assembled for a surprise baby shower in her honor.

Mostly members of Angie's softball team, "Bottoms Up," the group also included friends and relatives from Flat Rock and Taylor. Baby bingo was followed by the gift presentation which included a handmade baby quilt, the work of Carmen Forey of Taylor.

Co-hostesses for the evening, Josephine Wood of Taylor and Shirley Linderman of Romulus, then helped serve an interesting Mexican dinner.

ANNIVERSARY MARKED

Relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Martin of Romulus made their recent 30th wedding anniversary something to remember. Due to illness five years ago, the couple was unable to mark their silver wedding day as they'd planned. Their children, deciding five years was long enough to wait, took up the reins and put together a special celebration.

Taking their parents out to dine at The Governor's Place in Flat Rock early in the evening were Bob and Rosemarie Chandler of Woodhaven; Kenn and Eileen Martin of Carleton; Jack and Joyce Martin of Trenton and Phil and Diana Heubner of Southgate.

Returning to the former couple's home afterwards, the elder Martins were greeted by cries of "surprise" as some 35 guests popped out of hiding with their vocal wishes. Former neighbors from as far as Columbus, Ohio were among those helping mark the special date. Others arrived from Wyandotte, Detroit, Ann Arbor, Plymouth, Romulus and the Downriver area.

Dancing and thumbing through the special scrapbook the couple's children had compiled for the occasion were highlights of the party along with midnight buffet luncheon. The three-tiered wedding cake was the gift of a girlhood friend of Mrs. Martin's, Eleanor Funsch of Detroit.

Eva Duquette feted by family on 90th year

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Seaman of Savage Road, Belleville, entertained some 40 relatives Sunday, Feb. 16, at a family party honoring his mother, Mrs. Eva Duquette of Main Street, on her 90th birthday.

Members of the Duquette and McDaniel families arrived for the 3 p.m. celebration from Crown Point, Ind., Royal Oak, St. Clair Shores, Franklin, Detroit, Taylor, Wayne, Wyandotte, Romulus and Belleville.

Flowers and gifts were presented to the nonagenarian along with a special greeting which arrived from the President and Mrs. Gerald R. Ford.

A buffet lunch featuring a special cake decorated in the Valentine motif (since the honoree's birthday is actually Feb. 14) was served from a table centered with red and white carnations. Mrs. Duquette received a companion arrangement in pink to pin to her dress.

Rainbow girls entertain 150 at reception

Belleville Assembly No. 49, Order Rainbow for Girls, entertained at a grand reception held at the Masonic Temple to honor Jill E. Conbee, Grand Worthy Advisor of Trenton; Denise Welt, Grand Treasurer of Belleville; and Carolyn Nicholson, Grand Representative to Maine.

Among the 150 attending the 5:30 p.m. dinner were 26 grand officers, 14 state representatives, 12 state officials, four grand lecturers, past grand officers, past worthy advisors, past mother advisors and several members of the youth committee. Among the special guests was "Dad" Coburn.

The address of welcome was given by Roberta Pond, Worthy Matron of Belleville Chapter, with the response by Past Patron Vincent Goodnuff.

BEDIA WOODS, the first mother advisor of Belleville Assembly, gave the invocation.

A reception was held at 7 p.m. after which the initiatory work was performed by the grand officers. Norma McDonald was a candidate with Sylvia Carey and Betty Jo Powell being pro tem candidates.

In spite of extremely bad weather, guests came from Traverse City, Cadillac, Niles, Kalamazoo, Battle Creek and many other outlying areas.

Fourteen girls stayed overnight and enjoyed a pajama party as guests of Denise Welt and mother advisor, Mrs. Rose Ann Welt.

Overeaters Anonymous to organize

A new chapter of Overeaters Anonymous will open in Belleville tomorrow, Feb. 27, at the Belleville High School cafeteria. The meeting will be held from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

What is Overeaters Anonymous (OA)? It is a 14-year old non profit, self help organization of men and women that offers a program of recovery for compulsive overeaters. It is based on the 12 steps and 12 traditions of Alcoholics Anonymous with members addressing each other by first names only.

There are no "diets." OA follows a daily food plan which has a twofold purpose. One, to lose weight, and two, to learn to change eating habits and patterns. Its goal is to help each other lose weight sensibly, regain self confidence and achieve peace of mind.

If you have an overeating problem, you can learn more about OA by calling either 697-0742 or 697-7664.

For year around navigation

Milliken gets support on lake proposal

By TOM OCHILTREE
Enterprise-Roman
Bureau Chief

Governors of the other Great Lakes states threw their support behind Michigan Gov. William G. Milliken's request for a 2-year extension of the federal government's program to demonstrate the feasibility of year around navigation on the lakes.

The action was taken by a caucus of the chief executives of Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Indiana, Illinois and Ohio held as a sideline event to the recent Washington meeting of the National Governors' Conference.

If keeping the Great Lakes open to shipping through the winter months proves practical from an economic point of view and does not damage the ecology or isolate families living on Lake Superior islands, the program could be counted on to stimulate the economy of the Middle West. The demonstration activities, with Coast Guard participation, are designed to identify the problems involved in winter navigation and seek solutions.

Milliken's proposal would cost $4 million. Approximately $2,262,000 in federal funds already has been appropriated for the 5-year-old program, including $2,207,000 for the current fiscal year. Without an extension the project is due to wind up Dec. 31, 1976.

In what they described as "an effort to restore equity" to the competition between rail and water-borne modes of transportation, the caucus sent a letter to the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) urging it to reach a decision quickly on a long pending case dealing with the impact of discriminatory practices on railroads and shipping lines. The governors urged the ICC to favor rail rates which more accurately reflect relative distances.

The governors also asked Congress to create a maritime administration office for the Great Lakes to see that the lakes are treated as "the nation's fourth seacoast."

Such an office should be equal "in all respects to those already in existence to protect and promote the interests of the east, gulf and west coasts," they said.

To guarantee adequate funds to promote Great Lakes shipping, the caucus recommended that 10 percent of available federal maritime operating and ship construction subsidies be spent on each of the four coasts.

Particular stress was placed on the need to encourage greatly shipping interests to make more use of the Great Lakes. At present there are no American flag carriers flying between the Great Lakes and foreign ports other than Canadian ports. Contractors working under the direction of the Maritime Administration are studying ways to boost lakes traffic.

Trade fair inquiries draw good response

Inquiries from area business establishments regarding participation in the upcoming Spring Trade Fair involving Belleville and Canton Township "are very encouraging," according to Kurt Atchinson, co-chairman of the fair program.

The Spring Trade Fair, which jointly is sponsored by the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce and the Canton Township Chamber of Commerce, is scheduled for May 16-18 at the Wayne County 4-H Fairgrounds on Quirk Road north of I-94 near Belleville.

"We are getting good reception to our invitations to participate from area businesses," Atchinson of

Atchinson Ford Sales Inc. of Belleville said. "It is very encouraging."

Chamber officials are planning to make the fair an all-area event of promoting the residential, professional and business talents of both communities.

Atchinson, along with Bart Berg of Bart's Nursery and president of the Canton Township Chamber of Commerce, issued another call this week for various market, flea market and arts and crafts displays, in addition to commercial, industrial and trade exhibits. Rental forms and other trade fair information now are available at the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce offices, at 116 Fourth St. in Belleville.

On collective bargaining

Van Buren educators attend legal seminar

Six educators from the Van Buren Education Association Public Affairs Council (VBEA-PAC) recently found themselves engaged in a healthy exchange of viewpoints on the collective bargaining law when they attended a legislative seminar at the Michigan Education Association (MEA) Headquarters Building. Present at the Western

Wayne County Public Affairs Council (WWCPAC) legislative seminar were State Rep. Gary Owen (D-22nd District), Rep. Edward Mahalak (D-38th District), Rep. Thomas H. Brown (D-37th District), Rep. Robert Geake (R-35th District), Rep. Roy Smith (52nd District) and Sen. Carl Pursell (R-14th District). VBEA-PAC Chairman Roland Wolfe said the seminar was held "to open up communications with area legislators and give them the local teachers' views" regarding the current collective bargaining law, P.A. 379. "The Van Buren teachers are very concerned about the inequality of the present collective bargaining law," he added. During the seminar, the major area of concern expressed by the educators was that the present law gives boards of education an "inordinate amount of power at the bargaining table," Wolfe continued. The teachers said they felt the only way this power could be equalized would be to remove the current prohibition on the right of public employees to strike. They also expressed a need for other changes in the law in an attempt to solve the current problem of "inequality" that exists in the bargaining relationships between public employers and public employees, Wolfe added. Those changes, as outlined by MEA legislative consultant and lobbyist Dan Welburn, follow: — The parties specifically should be granted the right mutually to agree to arbitration which would be binding on both sides. — A timetable for negotiations should be set up so bargaining would have to begin by April 1, or within 10 days after state aid is passed by the Legislature and signed by the Governor. — If an agreement is not reached within five days before the old contract expires, around-the-clock bargaining should begin under the supervision of the Michigan Employment Relations Commission (MERC) with talks continuing until agreement is reached. Schools wouldn't open until that occurs. — More effective impasse resolution services from MERC should be provided by increasing the level of staffing and funding of MERC. The last point stressed by the teachers was that the present state method of financing public schools should be changed. Smith presented at the seminar his proposal to amend the State Constitution regarding this issue. Other issues discussed at the seminar were the Teacher Licensure Act, improvements in the present public school employees retirement statute and reclassification of reading specialists to learning disability specialists. Wolfe closed the session by challenging area legislators and teachers "to continue future meetings."

Engine maker sees expansion

A leading Detroit-based manufacturing firm is looking forward to continued expansion and growth in Romulus "if all conditions are right."

That was the message delivered by Robert B. Hadley, diesel operations director of plant engineering for Detroit Diesel Allison, to the Kiwanis Club of Romulus at its regular meeting on Feb. 13 at St. Aloysius School.

Illustrating his address with slides and a film, Hadley explained how continued expansion over the years at the engine maker's Redford Township plant had filled up all available space on that property and forced the company to look to other locations for future expansion.

The 375-acre site Detroit Diesel owns in Romulus — bounded by Van Born Road on the north, the Chesapeake and Ohio rail line on the east, Ecorse Road on the south and residential and farm areas on the west — could be an excellent site for such expansion, Hadley said. That is, if the company's sales position continues to indicate new buildings are needed and if economic conditions associated with the property are favorable, he added.

Hadley said plant engineers had made detailed studies of the Romulus property with just such expansion in mind.

The land presently is the site of the firm's 442,000-square-foot parts distribution center. A 740,000-square-foot diesel engine parts manufacturing complex currently is under construction south of the parts center.

Willis rates may be hiked

The Michigan State Public Service Commission (PSC) last week was asked by Michigan Bell Telephone Co. to reclassify the Willis telephone exchange because of the growth of the number of telephones in the local calling area.

Eugene L. Greek, Bell's local manager, said reclassification would mean that Willis customers with 1- or 2-party flat rate service would pay 25 cents more each month and those with suburban service would pay 15 cents more. Rates for residential customers with measured service would not be affected.

'Customers with 1-party flat rate service would pay $1.05 more. . .'

Business customers with 1-party flat rate service would pay $1.05 more a month, and business customers with suburban service, 30 cents more, Greek added.

Michigan Bell asked the PSC to reclassify the exchange from rate group "B" to "C" because the number of telephones in Willis' local calling area — which includes Willis, Belleville, New Boston and Ypsilanti — had remained about 36,000 for two years, Greek continued.

Rate group "C" consists of exchanges with local calling areas of between 36,001 and 80,000 main telephones, he said.

When the number of telephones in an exchange's local calling area moves above or below its rate group limits for a period of 24 consecutive months, the exchange is reclassified and placed in the proper rate group, under PSC regulations.

Rate group classifications are based on the number of main telephones in the local calling area, because as the number of telephones increases, so do the opportunities for local calling, Greek said.

The company has sent written notification to Willis residents affected by the reclassification request, he added.

The PSC must verify and approve the company's request and set the effective date for the rate changes.

CHESS TOURNEY — Students Kevin English (left) and Brett LaCruze match skills in the newest event in the Tiger Pride Program at Romulus South Junior High School, a chess tournament, as instructor Bruce Mendenhall looks on. The Tiger Pride Program is a contest lasting all year in which the school's homerooms compete for points earned through a variety of activities focusing on school pride. The activities are carried out directly before or directly after student lunch periods, and involve almost any field a student might be interested in. The chess tournament will run during the students' lunch and activity hour, involving about 100 students. Champions will be chosen for each grade in the school. Mendenhall and William Houston, both science teachers, will officiate.

Lions donate special planter

Residents of Welcome Home for the Blind in Grand Rapids have an opportunity to take up a new hobby, thanks to the Belleville Lions Club.

The Welcome Home recently purchased a "Grow Lux" planter with money donated by the Belleville Club to give residents of the home the opportunity to garden, even during the winter months.

The Grow Lux planter provides a space to grow plants indoors during cold months by the use of artificial lighting.

According to Ray Ferrier, Lions Club president in Belleville, the planter was purchased with a $540 donation sent to the Welcome Home as part of the Lions Club's annual charitable work.

The Belleville club annually raises more than $3,000 through projects in the community and sends the money back to various organizations which benefit the blind, including the Leader Dog School for the Blind in Rochester and the Penickton Center for the visually handicapped in Taylor.

"I think it's important for the people of Belleville to know what their donations to the Lions Club have done to benefit the blind," Ferrier said. "The Welcome Home can now broaden some of its recreational activities, thanks primarily to the generosity of the Belleville residents who have supported the Lions Club."

Ferrier said the next fund raising drive scheduled for the Belleville Club is the annual White Cane Drive in April.

Using state cars

Legislators criticize educators' driving habits

The House Appropriations Subcommittee on Higher Education, chaired by State Rep. Gary Owen (D-Van Buren Township), has sent a letter to the Michigan State University (MSU) Board of Trustees, criticizing that body for using state-owned vehicles for transportation. In a letter to the board, the subcommittee questioned whether the use of the automobiles is in line with a state statute saying "members of the boards of trustees shall serve without compensation, but shall receive the actual and necessary expenses incurred by them in the performance of the duties of their office." "At a time when the state must consider raising income taxes, the unnecessary use of automobiles is an expense that cannot be condoned," the letter stated.

"If MSU wants the Higher Education Subcommittee to consider its budget needs for the coming fiscal year, it will have to justify this use. "We (the five sponsoring representatives) are serving notice on MSU and any other university that their budgets will be scrutinized carefully and considered on a zero-budget basis. "All presented programs will have to be justified." Two of the MSU trustees have refused to accept the automobiles because of a belief that the 10-year-old practice is illegal, according to the subcommittee.

However, six cars are being used by the remaining trustees. "No other university assigns autos to its governing board, although all universities furnish their presidents with autos," the five subcommittee members said. "And some members of other governing boards do not seek reimbursement of their expenses. "Our job on the Higher Education Subcommittee is to take a close look at expenses such as these and reduce proportionately those in violation of the law, or which are unnecessary."

The following service, scheduled for March 13, will be an ecumenical service at the Belleville Presbyterian Church.

The theme of the March 20 sermon, at the Seventh-Day Adventist Church, is "The Cross, a mighty magnet." The March 27 sermon will be "The fellowship of the Cross with the Holy Communion."

A Good Friday service is scheduled for March 28 at the United Methodist Church in Belleville.

The series of services will be conducted by The Rev. Carl E. Benander, the new pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Apostles.

From Manistique

PCHA appoints new Beyer head

Manistique resident Ronald G. Czarneke has been named administrator of the Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA) Beyer Memorial Hospital according to Dr. Karl S. Klicka, PCHA executive director.

"Mr. Czarneke brings some 10 years of diversified industrial and hospital experience to the authority," Klicka said.

"We are convinced that his education and experience profile blends well with the demands placed on a hospital administrator."

Czarneke, 39, is a 1961 graduate of Michigan State University where he was awarded a master's degree in business administration.

From 1962 to 1965 he worked as a senior auditor and business management specialist for Ford Motor Co. in Dearborn. In 1965 he joined the Institute of Science and Technology in the Hospital Systems Research Group at the University of Michigan.

Czarneke was appointed administrator of Crittenton Hospital in Detroit in 1966, and remained there until 1970 when he took the position of administrator of Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital in Manistique.

Married and the father of two children, he is a member of the American College of Hospital Administrators, the American Hospital Association, a trustee in the Michigan Hospital Association, and past president of the Upper Peninsula Hospital Council. Czarneke will assume his new duties in Ypsilanti on March 3.

PCHA owns and operates three other hospitals in Southeastern Michigan: Annapolis in Wayne, Outer Drive in Lincoln Park and Seaway in Trenton, and a fifth facility now is under construction in Taylor. The new hospital, Heritage Hospital, is scheduled to start accepting patients in mid 1977.

Malpractice suits lead to insurance rate hike

With the public's growing tendency to file malpractice suits, hospitals are feeling the impact in increased insurance premiums.

St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor has been notified of a 173 percent increase in this year's premium for basic liability coverage, according to hospital officials. The total liability insurance coverage has been increased by more than $280,000 for 1975.

This year the increased cost of liability insurance alone will mean $1.67 in additional costs to inpatients at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for each day of their stay. Since the average patient stay is approximately eight days, each patient will be paying almost $13.50 more for this item alone, officials said.

In addition to increased insurance costs, recent increases in the social security tax program have increased hospital costs by $110,000, or $1.30 per patient day.

These additional increases in insurance and utilities and the effects of inflation have necessitated a total increase of $6 per patient day, added Christine Taylor, hospital public relations officer.

The new daily service charges became effective on Feb. 1. As of that date, room rates are as follows: ward, $88, semi-private, $90; and private room, $92 to 95.

For more state funding

Smith backs legislation to allow new census

Wayne County Commissioner Royce E. Smith (D-27th District) this week is urging public support of proposed state legislation to enable local communities to request a 1975 census to gain a larger share of state revenue.

"Enactment of this legislation would pave the way for significant increases in those state funds which cities and townships in Western Wayne County receive on a per capita (population) basis," Smith said.

The commissioner, the former mayor of Belleville, is author of a resolution which would put the Wayne County Board of Commissioners on record in support of the legislation. His resolution, co-sponsored by Commissioners Edgar L. Harris of Taylor and Tom F. Taylor of Westland, was introduced at the Feb. 20 board meeting.

Smith expressed confidence that the board would adopt the resolution.

"Nobody would lose anything, and many communities would gain badly-needed revenues," he added.

The resolution urges enactment of identical bills introduced as House Bill 4172 by State Rep. Thomas H. Brown of Westland and as Senate Bill 126 by five senators.

The five Senate sponsors include William Faust of Westland, David A. Plawewski of Inkster.

The legislation would enable cities and townships to request the Secretary of State to conduct a special mid-decade census of the population of the locality requesting it. Counties, villages and other political subdivisions which receive state funds on a per capita basis also could request a 1975 population count.

"Upward adjustment of their official population figures would result in increased revenues for political subdivisions which receive or share in any state sales, intangibles or income taxes on a per capita basis," the resolution reads.

"This probably is the most important piece of legislation, in terms of Western Wayne County, in this session of the Legislature," Smith said.

"All of Western Wayne County has gained substantially in population. Canton Township, for example, probably has 2½ times the population it had in the 1970 U.S. Census. The rest of the communities probably have doubled their populations since then. "Those communities are being penalized because their share of quite a few state taxes still are based on the 1970 census."

Smith urged taxpayers to write their state legislators to seek their support of the legislation.

Under provisions of a 1974 state law, local governments are permitted to conduct special census midway between regular 10-year population count. The census will allow local governments to issue additional liquor licenses prior to the 1980 population tally.

Area debaters receive trophy

Belleville High School was one of six Michigan high schools to receive a championship trophy for participation in the 58th annual state championship debates sponsored by the Michigan High School Forensic Association and the Detroit Free Press.

Members of the school's debate team who participated in the state finals were given watches by the sponsors. They were Charles and John Dougherty, Mark Villeneuve and Renne Jones.

Belleville High lost the Class A championship match to Kimball High School of Royal Oak in debating the topic, "Resolved: That the United States should significantly change the method of selecting presidential and vice-presidential candidates."

Insurance man earns award

Insurance salesman Charles R. Kline, whose agency K-Line Insurance Associates serves the Western Wayne County area, recently was awarded the National Quality Award for 1974 by the National Association of Life Underwriters.

The award is presented for the "quality of life sales as evidenced by an excellent record of maintaining insurance in force."

Niemi: 'Fantastic season'

Belleville '5' 2nd best in league

Edsel Ford	6	8

Tom Niemi described the season with one word: "Fantastic."

And, when one reviews the Belleville High basketball coach's accomplishment thus far this year you'd have to agree. The Tigers thrashed Trenton and Allen Park last week to end the regular season with a 16-4 over-all and a 11-3 Suburban 8 Conference record. The over-all record surpassed the record set by the 1958-59 team which, while winning the league championship, wound up 13-4 on the year. THAT ONE honor eluded Belleville's 1974-75 cage team - it was forced to settle for second best in the Suburban 8 Conference. The Tigers, who had the distinction of being one of two teams that beat the defending champ, Plymouth

Salem, missed out on a share of the coveted crown by one victory.

Salem's 12-2 record earned for the Rocks their second straight league championship.

"I'm proud of this team," said Niemi, "they're a fine bunch of athletes who are a credit to the school, their community, the teachers, coaching staff and their parents."

"But, we haven't ended the year yet," reminded Niemi, "we still have the playoffs ahead of us."

BELLEVILLE will join the shooting at Ypsilanti High tomorrow night at 8:30 p.m., clashing with the winner of the Ann Arbor Pioneer and Monroe game. The two teams (Monroe and Pioneer) were scheduled to play last night.

The championship at Ypsilanti High will be decided on Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

Belleville, despite a 16-point halftime lead, had difficulty shaking a tenacious Trenton contingent which battled back to within eight points before losing a 74-64 decision.

BELLEVILLE, shooting at a 42 percent clip for the evening, jumped out in front 22-13 and appeared to have enough of a lead at the half, 42-26, to coast to their 11th league win. However, Trenton refused to quit.

The Trojans outscored their hosts 23-16 in the third period, then exchanged baskets on almost equal (16-15) terms in the last eight minutes.

Mel Abraham sparked Belleville's attack as the sharpshooting Tiger senior drilled in 11 field goals and also hit on four free throws for 26 points. Teammate Walt Easley ended his league career with 18 points while brother, Dennis, sank 10.

DENNIS teamed with Kevin Edwards to provide the Tigers with the boards. The two split 22 of the 52 rebounds Belleville-nailed down.

Trenton collected 21 points from Kevin Nash while Steve Deller chipped in 18.

Belleville broke open a close 16-all game in the second period by outscoring host, Allen Park, 19-9, in the second period to coast to an 83-56 victory over the Jaguars.

WALT EASLEY scored eight points in that second period spurt while the Parkers hampered their own cause with excessive fouls. Belleville outscored their Sam Vicchy is optimistic, but he's also a realistic swim coach.

The Belleville High swim mentor knows there is no way his Tigers are going to upset Dearborn, the defending Suburban 8 Conference champ and the reigning Class A state kingpin, Friday night.

"They are definitely the team to beat not only in our league but in the state again this season," said Vicchy, "but I feel that we will snatch some of the limelight away from them."

ONE OF the snatchers will be Arlo Liebeler, recently crowned Western Wayne diving champ. Liebeler has an excellent shot at emerging from the league competition as the diving champ.

Belleville will be carrying a 5-2 league record into tomorrow's league preliminaries scheduled for Plymouth Salem High School. The finals will be run at 7 p.m. on Friday.

Belleville lost to Dearborn 52-21 in their confrontation last week, but the Tigers had the satisfaction "of scoring more points against them than any team in the league," said Vicchy.

Liebeler's performance on the boards helped the Tigers avert a shutout from first place. Liebeler was awarded 245.82 points for his efforts. Dearborn, led by Marty Szuba who captured two events - the 200-yard freestyle (1:49.8) and the 100-yard freestyle (50.7) claimed the remaining 10 firsts.

Jeff Pultorak had a difficult decision to make recently and, because he loved his father he decided to swim for Livonia Churchill's team.

"Jeff and his father were very close," relates Dave Tavidian, Churchill High swim coach, "and we know what the boy was going through."

Last week, Jeff's father passed away. And Mr. Pultorak was laid in state last Tuesday.

"Many of the swimmers and myself went to the funeral home to pay our respects," continued Tavidian, "and then got ready to go to the meet."

Jeff and his mother talked it over and Mrs. Pultorak felt that her husband would have wanted Jeff to swim, so Jeff joined the team.

"It was one of those meets where everybody swam as hard as they could," added the Charger coach, "and it was quite an effort on Jeff's part."

Jeff's father would have been proud. Churchill won the meet, 87-85, beating Farmington.

AND, SINCE we're on the subject of swimming, I'd like to thank the Western Wayne swim coaches, their teams, and the fans for making the 13th annual Western Wayne Swimming & Diving Championships a success this year.

At Wachtel, Westland John Glenn's head coach who also played the role of host, said that the meet was not only a success competitionwise but at the box office.

"Unfortunately, I had to miss this year's invitational. The flu bug caught up with me Thursday night and knocked me cold. I didn't recover until Monday."

It seems that the coaches in the area put one over on this aging writer - they dedicated the 1975 championships in my honor - and that's the first time anyone has done anything like that.

TO MAKE SURE I wouldn't forget, those darn guys also went out and bought a plaque. (And I'll betcha any money that word will come out plaque.)

Anyway, thanks fellows. It isn't you who are indebted to me, it's the other way around: I owe you - for, without your cooperation this column and many others like it in the past and more of them in the future, if the Good Lord wills it, would be impossible.

And let's hope that the 1976 championships will be even bigger and better.

Thank you again.

Cass crushes Romulus

Eagles ousted in 1st round

"Home rule" ended for three-time defending Class A district basketball champs, Romulus, Monday night as visiting Detroit Cass Tech destroyed the Eagles 77-33 in the first round of district competition.

Coach Jesse Meriweather's Eagles kept the outcome of the game in doubt until the third period when Cass exploded behind William Mayfield's 14 to bolt from a 22-21 halftime margin to a insurmountable 48-25 lead.

Romulus could only manage four points in the entire third period. And didn't recover from the shock. They were outscored 24-8 in the final eight minutes

Four local grapplers survive district meets

And then there were four... That's how many local wrestlers survived the district Class A wrestling eliminations held at Bedford Temperance last week.

Three of those survivors - Greg Johnson (98), Dan Porter (126) and Randy Slocum (167) - are from Belleville High, while the fourth, Lamar Sandusky (108) is the lone representative from Romulus.

THE FOURSOME will head for Trenton High on Saturday to compete in the regional tournament. They'll have to finish in the top four of their weight class in order to advance to the state finals.

The state finals will be staged at Jenison Fieldhouse, Michigan State University, East Lansing, a week from Saturday.

At least one wrestling coach, Gerald Malcek, was disappointed at his team's performance in the regionals.

"I EXPECTED more than three to get out of the districts," said the Tiger mentor. "The competition was tough, but still we missed out on a couple of more chances."

One of those who failed to survive the test was top-seeded Randy Calhoun who lost out to Dearborn Heights Annapolis' Loran Chilcote in the 155-pound class.

Jeff Bracken, who recently won the Suburban 8 Conference title at 119, also was sidetracked as he lost an overtime decision.

"There were a lot of tough 119-pounders at Bedford," explained Malcek, "but Jeff is too good a wrestler not to have made it out of the districts."

Belleville, teamwise, finished fifth at the districts. Bedford amassed 32 points to beat out runnerup Annapolis for top honors.

Another highly-rated wrestler who failed to make the cut was Romulus' heavyweight Ed Abbott who was seeded 4th. He lost to the No. 5 "seed," Crestwood's Mike McKentry, 3-2.

North, South split in swim finales

Climaxing successful seasons, the North and South Junior High swimming teams clashed in the final dual meet of the year. North took the 8th grade meeting, 41-35, and South won the 9th grade event, 61-19.

Leading the way for the North underclassmen were Jeff Whittico and Mike Stoeiton. Whittico took first in the 100 yard backstroke at 1:09.3 and second in the 100 yard individual medley at 1:09.5.

Stoeiton was a triple winner, taking the 50 yard freestyle and 50 yard butterfly in 26.2 and 29.6 respectively, and then coming back to swim on the winning 400 yard freestyle relay team.

Other first place performances were turned in by Tom Kause in the 200 yard freestyle at 2:23.5 and Joe Thomas in the 100 yard breaststroke, clocking a 1:15.3.

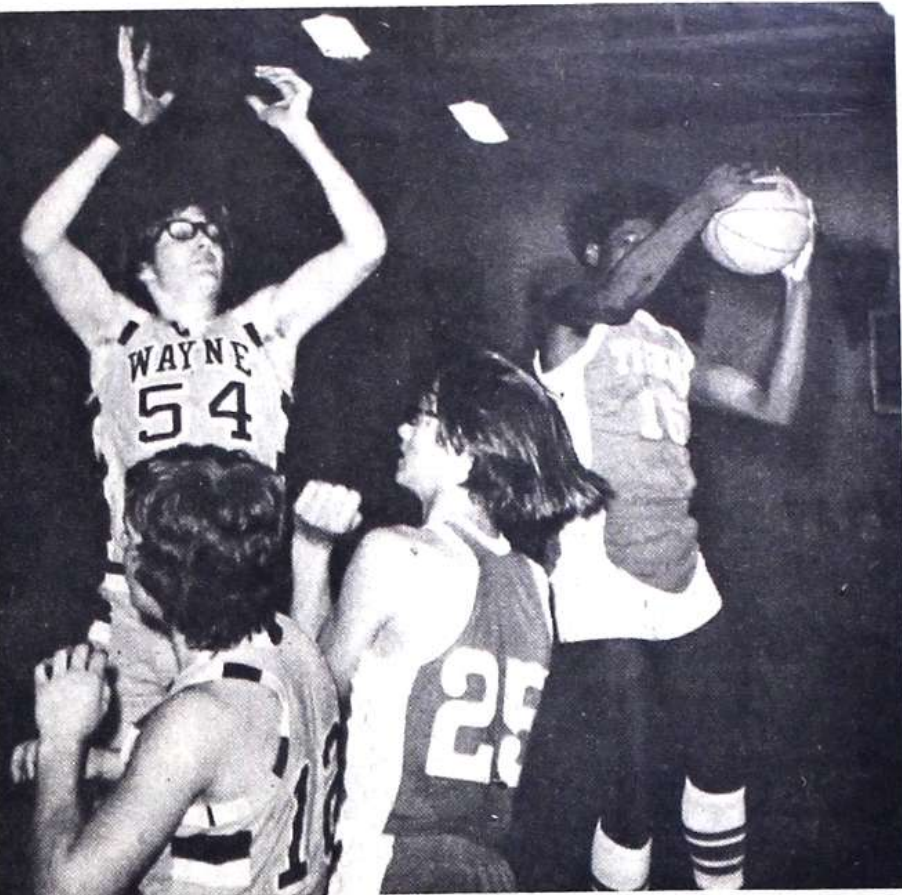

SOUTH was paced by Rusty Bearance and Chris Renton. Rusty set a record in winning the 100 yard individual medley, going 1:04.2, and then came back to take the 100 yard freestyle in 56.5 with Chris taking second in the 50 yard butterfly at 29.8 and the 100 yard backstroke, splitting a 1:13.6.

The 200 yard medley relay of Bearance, Larry De Rousse, Renton and Brian DeRousse took first, going 2:01.2.

"I'm very pleased with the job our kids did not only today but all season long," said North coach Frank Musser. "For many of them this is the first type of competitive swimming they have ever been involved in and they've done well."

While the 7th-8th grade meet was close all the way, the freshman event was no contest as South took first in all ten races plus diving to romp to a 61-19 victory.

REMATCH — There is a good possibility that Belleville and Wayne Memorial may make the Ypsilanti District basketball tournament finals an all-area affair. The two teams drew first round byes and Belleville will begin action Thursday against the winner of the Monroe-Ann Arbor Pioneer game, while Wayne takes on the victor of the Ann Arbor Huron and Ypsilanti tilt. The championship will be decided on Saturday. In their first meeting of the season, Belleville had little difficulty stopping the Zebras as Ernie Thornsbury (25) sank 29 points and Dennis Easley (15) sank 10 in an 89-64 triumph.

Romulus crushed

MAYFIELD caused a lot of damage to the Romulus defense as he sank 11 field goals for 22 points, but teammate Rodney Curry was equally effective.

Curry pumped in 10 field goals and picked up three free throws for 23, the game's high.

The only Romulus player to reach double figures was Irving Gibson who drilled in five from the field for 10 points. Teammate Michael Morrison wrapped up his prep career with eight.

The Eagles also were off target at the free throw line where they made three of 11 offerings. Cass cashed in on five of 10.

In the opening game, a highly-touted Detroit Northwestern erased Southgate 74-36 to advance to the semifinals which are set for tonight.

TRENTON has the dubious honor of taking on Northwestern in a 6 p.m. game while Wyandotte will clash with Cass at 8 p.m.

The championship will be decided on Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Belleville volleyball team wins

What happens when a winless Belleville girls' volleyball team runs up against an undefeated Dearborn team?

Well, in this case Belleville, it puts an end to its skid and wins its first Suburban 8 Conference match 2-1 of the season. Coach Norma Vinson's Tigers dropped the first set to the Pioneers, 15-7, despite Diminje Wojtowicz' heroics.

BELLEVILLE bounced back to win the next set 15-9 as Kathy Berbee counted six points for the winners and in the decisive set Miss Berbee came up with six more points to spark a 15-11 triumph.

Tigers are 2nd best

For the evening the winners canned 23 of 41 charities as compared to Allen Park's six of 14.

Four Belleville players reached double figures. Abraham, Ernie Thornsbury and Dennis Easley all had 15 points while Walt Easley finished up with 19.

However, Allen Park's Phil Beyer took game's individual scoring honors with 26.

Wayne wrestlers are ranked No. 1

The race for the coveted Class A wrestling championship is so close that even the high school coaches across the state can't call it.

They've rated Wayne Memorial and Temperance-Bedford as their top choices to upset Detroit Catholic Central as the No. 1 team in the state.

But DCC's contingent is also on the move. Previously unranked among the top 10, Coach Mike Rodriguez' Shamrocks have moved up to No. 5.

WAYNE and Bedford, meanwhile, have garnered 114 first place points each to force a deadlock for the No. 1 billing.

"We're always happy to be No. 1," said Wayne Coach Don Haney, "and we hope to stay there when this is all over."

Wayne beat Temperance in a dual meet earlier in the season, but Temperance

- came back to hand Haney's Zebras their only loss of the season by claiming the Detroit Catholic Central Invitational title.
- Wayne was runnerup at DCC.
- Here is this week's Class A Wrestling poll as compiled by coaches across the state.
- Wayne Memorial (114)
 - Temperance-Bedford (114)

Gordie Davis is probably thinking it's almost sacrilegious to be on a hospital bed at this crucial hour in the high school basketball season.

But, you and I won't know what the veteran John Glenn cage coach is thinking - at least not today - about his team's performance at the Livonia Churchill district playoffs.

The kind nurses at the hospital have put up a protective screen around their patient to make sure he doesn't get any disturbing news. Davis was ordered into the hospital by his doctors last week so that they could get a good look at a pinched nerve in the cage coach's leg.

"I'm sorry," said a pleasant voice on the other side of the telephone, "but it's against hospital regulations for a patient to get incoming calls after 8:30 p.m."

"WE CAN TELL you that the patient is in good condition," the telephone operator said.

So, I guess good - or bad - news will have to wait till the morrow for the Rocket mentor.

It's too bad we couldn't inform him that his team did it again. It beat Garden City East and is still alive in the playoffs.

Speaking of the playoffs, there was an interesting matchup last night at the Southfield Lathrup district tournament where Redford Thurston met and ousted Dearborn Heights Annapolis.

Bill Croteau, the head Thurston coach who Glenn fans got a good look at last Friday, said he wasn't going to let history repeat.

"No way."

That proclamation was offered by the Eagle coach because of an incident that happened to him while he was a junior high coach in Dearborn Heights some years ago.

It seems that Croteau's son, Bruce, was playing for O.W. Best at the time and there was a father vs. son matchup that year for the junior high championship.

Bruce burned his father's team by sinking two free throws in the last second to win for O.W. Best.

Last night Bruce was in the Annapolis High's lineup.

No, history didn't repeat; but it almost did. Thurston needed an overtime period to win a close 66-63 decision.

And, before we run off to our next tournament, we have to correct an error that appeared on these pages last week.

CHERRY HILL'S Dale Giacchina says that the Tri-River Conference wrestling results, as printed here, erroneously listed Taylor Kennedy's Paul Chauldinski as the winner of the consolation round of the 122-pound class.

Not so says Dale.

"I don't know where the newspaper received its information, but I placed third at 122. And I have the third place ribbon to prove it."

Can't argue that point.

Especially with a high school wrestler.

Made to order insurance? That's our policy.

If people were all alike, Sentry Insurance would have to find a new way to do business. Because a Sentry man starts with the basic idea that people are different. You aren't a standard person.
